From the School of Arts and Sciences

The School of Arts and Sciences announces two changes in program leadership.

Margaret McCoey is moving from the Director position in Digital Art and Multimedia Design (DArt) to fill the position of Director of the Master of Science degree programs in Computer Information Sciences and Information Technology Leadership.

Professor McCoey, who has led the DArt program since its inception, has overseen the evolution of the DArt curriculum into a multidisciplinary offering incorporating elements from computer science, English, art, and music. Serving as Interim Director of the DArt program will be John Beatty, Associate Professor of English.

The two master's degree programs have been led for the past two years by Thomas Blum, Assistant Professor of Computer Science. During his tenure as director, the programs have instituted a unique "warranty" program for alumni.

Admissions Counselor/Assistant Director for Adult Enrollment

La Salle University seeks an Admissions Counselor/Assistant Director for Adult Enrollment, focusing on programs offered by the School of Nursing. Responsibilities include interviewing potential students, providing initial admissions and financial aid counseling and substantial local off-campus recruiting. The successful candidate should be customer service oriented and have strong communication and organizational skills. A BS in nursing is preferred, but not required. A car and valid driver's license are also required. This position requires evening and weekend work and would be ideal for someone looking for an entry level counseling position or with 3 to 5 years of administrative experience.
